

10 REASONS FOR CHOOSING SKYFOL

1. 30 years of professional experience

The founder professionals of SkyFol started to work in the film industry in 1982; we were the first to introduce window films in the region. We possess a lot of experience which we are ready to share with our partners to support their work.

2. Competitive prices

Many producers purchase half-finished materials to make their products which obviously lead to extra costs. SkyFol purchases its products directly at first hand from producers representing the best value for the price. Companies of solid capital stand behind SkyFol that can afford to finance their stock of big quantities in advance, securing the best offers of producers.

3. A wide range of products

Whether the simplest traditional films or the highest technical levels are concerned, SkyFol offers several different series. SkyFol automotive films secure several technological solutions beginning with simple deep-dyed films to special IR-coated films. ThermoProtect architectural films offer from aluminum vapor films to multiple coated sputtered materials almost everything. Security film series' contain besides clear and metallized films individual products as well. Decour films are available with several patterns, whereas Cougar and Optica films meet special and modern needs.

4. Comprehensive marketing support

SkyFol has a clear-out image that fits the European taste; its central homepage makes campaigns, that span several countries, possible. Besides, SkyFol is continuously looking for possibilities that effectively show the advantages of films, such as a demonstration model house, Edtm instruments, demonstration wall, etc.

5. Quick, attentive service

The employees of SkyFol know the film types that best fit European glasses and they are ready to offer help concerning a problematic application. On the day we receive the order we immediately organize the transport; our standard forms make administrative processes easy to handle.

Possibilities for Companies

6. American quality

Today, window films are produced in many countries of the world but the American producers are still the best in quality and reliability. Most of SkyFol films are made in the United States; they are produced on the machines of producers that have been decisive for long decades. Products that are available in America are purchased from there.

7. Products of several producers

SkyFol considers three aspects when choosing a producer: appropriate quality and stability (1), products that fit the European glazing systems (2), and the potential of the producer within a given product range (3). There are producers that are leading within one particular product range, others offer impressive solutions in case of other products. SkyFol unites these so that it can offer a complex product range that fits the European glazing systems.

8. Huge stock

Serving the window film needs of several countries requires huge stock. The most important advantage of a huge stock is that you don't have to worry about the material supply even if you get a bigger job as material is immediately available.

9. Compliance with individual needs

Within European standards, every single country has its special individual needs that cannot be met by global factories in most cases. Thanks to SkyFol's international interests and its freedom from producers, our company was several times able to meet individual, nationwide needs to the satisfaction of its partners.

10. Full range of supplements

Should it be a broad range of tools, effective model instruments or special deco supplements, SkyFol offers several supplementary products to meet all the needs of its customers. We are constantly looking for accessories that could support our mutual work.
